'Historiana – Your Portal to the Past'

Historiana is an online educational tool that offers access to trans-border, comparative approach to history and heritage. The programme involves editors and contributors from more than 30 countries. In the near future, Euroclio will work towards an integration of the Historiana modules within the eTwinning environment. The 1st version of Historiana is online and can be tested. EUROCLIO invites educators to share their feedback on Historiana. As Historiana will be launched in September, your feedback will help! Please contact geert@euroclio.eu for more information.

Welcome

Hi everybody,

I am very happy that you found your way here and that I am the first one to hold an online seminar for eTwinning. I am very excited and nervous and hope that everything will work fine. If you want you can dive right in by clicking on "Day 2" in the navigation bar. As my normal teaching goes on during the times of this seminar please allow some time for me to be online every day that you have. I will be online every day.

Attention:

We are experiencing some unexpected problems on our website due to different language settings. If you do NOT see the correct website content, please check your language settings. This has to do with language choices in your browser panel. For the time being can you please go to your control panel and make sure that your language is set to ENGLISH? This should make sure that you see the page the way it's meant to be.

Sebastian's online status:

I'm online.

Schedule/Timeline

There is no special schedule or exact timeline for this event, meaning that you can work on your tasks and lessons whenever you like.

I will put next day's lessons and tasks online every evening so that you have time to work on them the whole day. As normal school work goes on for me during the event I can only be online from around 3pm till late evening. If you have any questions on the forum please allow some time for me to be online every day that you have.

About me

I'm the web and content editor of the eTwinning NSS-IT. I also like to play with graphics and photo editing. I'm interested in web 2.0 tools and development (but I'm not addicted to the virtual, and "always on", reality).
